Anvil Restored At Mendon Farms Subdivision

BY DEB AND TIM SMITH

It all started with a phone call from our boss, Sentinel publisher Chris Carosa asking, "Do you know Tim Kalb?" Our "yes" answer stemmed from a few unique angles. Tim had actually done some work on our house a few years ago, but the more unusual connection actually goes back decades. When Tim Kalb's family moved from Honeoye Falls to Victor, he became one of only a few people who Tim counseled at the Mendon-HF Summer Rec Program and also taught at Victor High School.

So what was the purpose of Chris's call? Tim Kalb had been called in by the Town of Mendon to apply his stone mason skills to repair the cobblestone structure, topped by an anvil, which sits at the Route 251 entrance to the Mendon Farms subdivision which is located just east of the 4-corners of the hamlet. Regarding the repair work, Mendon Town Supervisor John Moffitt told us that, "After doing research we determined it belonged to the town because it was in a town road and there was no easement." In terms of keeping things local, if you're looking for some quality stone work reach out to Tim Kalb.

Chris thought the structure, and the anvil that sits atop it, might be worthy of a jaunt through local history so we said, "Boss, we're on it." We did some digging and here's what we found. Things started with a September 12, 1974 article from the Honeoye Falls Times which Supervisor Moffitt had sent to Chris. The significant core of the article read like this…

Mendon Farms, a new community consisting of 81 custom-designed homes, was officially opened on September 12 in a unique unveiling ceremony. Mendon Town Supervisor Squire Kingston unveiled a large steel anvil (the symbol of the new development) mounted atop a cobblestone base and a hand-carved sign. The entrance was designed by William J. Young of Lima: the anvil was carved and welded by Rochester artist Al Wilson. Both men participated in the ceremony.

Pictured in the article are the former owners of the property, identified as the Barbens, who were presented with a miniature version of the anvil as part of the ceremony. So that name sent us in our next direction as it is also the name of our neighbors, and primary summer vegetable suppliers, Cindy and Dan Barben, who live down the road from us on West Bloomfield Road.

They own and operate the historic farm on that road which features the vegetable stand located on the west side of the road, about a quarter mile from Route 251. We immediately felt there was probably some kind of family connection, but it was a Saturday night so we couldn't just bop around the corner to ask them.

We did, however, shoot out an email to Mendon Town Historian

Delightful Horrors To Be Presented At HFCC Band Concert

Members of the HFCC Band dress up in Halloween costumes for their annual fall concert as they did here in 2019. HFCC Band photo

BY TOM EXTER

We all know in our gut that we live in scarry times. What with global warming, invasive species, and the new rules of baseball! But fear not, your Honeoye Falls Community Concert Band will take all that and more to new frightful albeit enjoyable levels with a free band concert on Saturday, October 28, the night of the full Hunter's Moon, at the HFL District Auditorium at the Middle (Earth) School.

Yes, the band will meet you at Middle Earth to hear Gandolf – The Wizard by Johan de Meij from The Lord of the Rings. But then, the Dark Wizard from the Fantastic Beasts: The Secrets of Dumbledore will disabuse you of any Gandolf wisdom. Maybe Hedwig will protect you. If you fear empty spaces, relax, Horror Vacui (literally, fear of the empty) fills the auditorium with demons, vampires, ghosts, zombies, and assorted monsters. On the other hand, if the horrors of the natural world are your thing, "Tooth and Claw" from King Kong awaits. Beyond the natural world, the band will play Stephen Bulla's arrangement of John William's music in The Star Wars Saga, with a romantic interlude featuring Han Solo and Princess Leia. There's nothing funny, however, about "The Divine Comedy" which will transport you, temporarily, to Purgatorio, another delightful musical experience by Robert W. Smith.

Good luck trying to recognize your favorite band member in costume. The concert and the fun begin at 7:00 PM.

Sentinel To Broadcast HF-L Football Playoff Game Live In Partnership With Section V

The second-seeded Honeoye Falls-Lima Cougars (6-2) host the seventh-seeded Dansville/Wayland-Cohocton football team (1-6) in the Quarterfinal round of the 2023 Section V Class B Football Tournament. This is a rematch of the Week 7 contest that saw HF-L score 32 unanswered points to defeat DWC 32-3. During the first half, Dansville/Wayland-Cohocton had three trips to the red zone but could only generate three points. The Cougars scored a touchdown in the final minute of the second quarter to take a 6-3 halftime lead before scoring 26 points in the second half. The game was highlighted by an interception returned 50 yards for a touchdown by HF-L's defensive back, Conor Finn, whose performance, which included six tackles, two interceptions, and a fumble recovery, garnered the Section V Class B Defensive Player of the Week award.

The Quarterfinal match kicks off this Friday, October 27th, at 7:00 PM. The Sentinel's broadcast of the game will be streamed through the Section V Broadcast Network. Beginning this year, Section V requires all live broadcasts of playoff games to be behind their paywall. Viewers will have the option to purchase access to the individual game or a season pass. The Sentinel will upload a copy of the broadcast to our YouTube channel following the live event for free on-demand viewing. Visit our website or social media channels for a direct link to the broadcast on the Section V Broadcast Network.

Diane Ham to see if she could confirm the connection. Diane clearly works long hours and seven days a week because within a matter of minutes she had responded with confirmation and some historical notes on the Barben property. So the next day, that Sunday afternoon, we were bound for the Barben farm to see what they could add to this local tale.

For the record, the Barben farm is on both the State and National Registry of Historic Places and boasts a long and proud local history. Dan's grandfather Gottleib Barben purchased the 80-acre parcel in 1906. It was passed on to Dan's father Fred in 1945 and then to Dan in 1992.

We found Dan and Cindy working on their Halloween display which is as "Fall Festive" as you can get. It's worth a trip there just to take that in and their selection of pumpkins and gourds cannot be topped. At any rate, the Barbens told us they would provide some family research on the property history and, oh by the way, they still have the anvil presented to Dan's parents at the 1974 ceremony! (see picture)

Turns out that, "Dan's father bought and sold all sorts of property in the Mendon area over the years." He thought his father bought that property in 1957 or '58 and "They used to grow cabbage plants in that field. They used to have wild asparagus up by the water tower." The topic sparked some childhood memories for Dan who remembered "learning to plow on an International Harvester 400 with an Oliver plow for the first time there. That was the big set up back then."

Thus concludes our historic neighborhood connecting the dots between how Mendon farms became Mendon Farms.

EDITORIALS & OPINIONS

Hold Anonymous Sources Accountable

We've mentioned this before. It's too easy for "anonymous" sources to promote fake news, often directed to hurt a particular person. As bad as this initial post is, what's worse is when other people – real or not – repost it. The more it's reposted, the more people think it's real.

This must stop, and, believe it or not, you can help it stop. Some social media platforms, like X (formerly known as Twitter), allow community notes to correct fake news. It's not a perfect solution, but it's a start. A less perfect solution is Facebook, where it's increasingly easy for anonymous posters to spread false content. The best thing you can do is report the individual making the false post or the group that allows anonymous posting. Other platforms have no such safeguards.

Beyond that, you can be careful what news you spread. Unless it's from a reliable and transparent source, don't even consider it. Even if it's from a source you consider reliable, be careful what you believe. Major news outlets like the New York Times and the network broadcast news anchors recently misreported on an international news story because they failed to check their sources.

At least they're not anonymous.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Has Issue With Brother Matthias Portrayal

I was both surprised and disappointed to see the Smiths refer to Brother Matthias as a "Predatory Priest" in their October 19 article about Babe Ruth.

In reality, Brother Matthias was neither a predator nor a priest. As his title implies, Matthias Boutlier was a religious brother; specifically, he was a member of the Congregation of St. Francis Xavier. Perhaps the Smiths were unaware that religious brothers are not priests. They cannot be pastors and cannot confer the sacraments. Rather, they provide a variety of services, such as teaching, medical care, etc., depending on the particular order to which they belong. They are, in effect, the male counterparts of religious sisters (e.g. the Sisters of St. Joseph or Mother Theresa's Missionaries of Charity).

Also, there is no evidence that Brother Matthias was a predator. A relationship between two consenting adults is not considered predatory. It could certainly be called scandalous and it would definitely have been a breach of his vow of chastity. But there is no reason to believe it was predatory.

As I said, I was both surprised and disappointed. I was surprised that the Smiths did not seem to understand the meanings of "brother" or "predatory". At least, I hope they wrote it out of ignorance and were not simply trying for tabloid style sensationalism regardless of the facts.

And, I was disappointed that the editors did not catch such a blatant error. I hope you will set the record straight about this in your next issue. The Catholic Church and Christianity in general have enough detractors already without the media spreading misinformation.

How To Submit Your Letter

The SENTINEL is offering you page two to share your own words. We'll even help you do it. The rules are simple: No insults. No false accusations. No uncorroborated testimony. And try to keep it local. It can be a kind thank to a neighbor or it can be a concern about something you see every day. And while commenting on politics always carries risk we encourage those who feel their voice is underrepresented in the media to use our pages to share your point of view. Just try to avoid the same-old/same-old national issues we already hear too much about. If you want to comment on broader issues, stick with what's going on in New York State. Albany and New York City might be outside the SENTINEL*'s coverage area, but you can be sure what's going on there will eventually impact us. So speak out now about it when there's a chance it can be nipped in the bud.*

Rules For Letters During Election Season

Wirh Election season upon us, The Sentinel would like to remind readers that they can submit letters in support of their candidate. In addition to the rules above to keep the letter positive, letters regarding the election will only be printed if we have both sides to the election, if possible. We will also not accept any letters after the October 26 edition. This is to ensure that a response to any letter can be published prior to the election on November 7. Thank You!

SMITHS' LIST: COLORFUL IDIOMS & EXPRESSIONS THE INSIDE STORY ON THE SYRACUSE ORANGE

BY DEB AND TIM SMITH

This week we are continuing the "Orange" component of our series on colorful idioms and expressions. We closed last week with the teaser that we would be heading to the college campus to tackle the story of the Syracuse Orange which is an interesting one for a couple reasons. It might not surprise you to hear that "Orange" is not all, or even part of, the nickname of any other team in…

* professional sports in the U.S.
* college sports in the U.S.
* high school sports in Section V

While the lack of Orange as a nickname for other teams may not surprise you, what you might very well find surprising is that the Syracuse Orange nickname has a history characterized with racism, politics and scandal.

As we tackle the topic of the Syracuse Orange/Orangemen nickname some younger Sentinel readers may not even remember the "Orangemen" era and some that do remember it will be surprised to hear that it was actually a Native American Indian reference. Yep, for decades the teams of Syracuse University; as they took the field, the court, or the diamond, competed as the Syracuse Orangemen, a reflection of the area's historical habitation by the Onondaga Indians. Here's the scoop…

From 1931 to 2004 Syracuse University played as the Orangemen. For the first 40 years of the timeframe, that scenario played out with no issues of political correctness. It was during the decade of the 1970's that the use of Native American nicknames first became a political issue not only at Syracuse, but across the nation.

NEW NCAA RULES - Gradually, beginning in the 1970's, some colleges began to change their nicknames to avoid controversy. A landmark date in this issue occurred in 2005 when the NCAA issued a dictum mandating that its members needed to abandon any Native American nicknames and imagery unless they obtained official support from the individual tribes whose imagery was being used.

Subsequently, all colleges which had Native American nicknames now fall into one of three distinct, clearly defined categories:

1) They changed their nicknames voluntarily before the NCAA dictum.

2) They were compelled to change their nicknames after the NCAA dictum.

3) They followed the NCAA dictum and earned the right to maintain their Native American nicknames.

Syracuse fell into category #1. Exit Orangemen. Enter Orange.

ORANGE ORDAINMENT - Going all the way back to the beginning, however, let us share with you the somewhat bizarre story of how Syracuse University first became known as the Orangemen and sported an Indian logo known as the Saltine Warrior for 45 years.

THE HOAX - Ironically the Orangemen nickname came about as the result of a hoax perpetrated by a campus magazine called The Syracuse Orange Peel. Even more ironically, the university itself was actually behind the hoax. We'll explain that part later. In its October 1931 issue, The Orange Peel published an article about the demolition of the women's phys ed building, which was being razed, as the site had been designated to become the new location of Hendricks Chapel. That much was actually true. Now let's move on to the hoax.

The article claimed that the demolition and excavation had revealed the location of an ancient fort of the indigenous Onondaga tribe. It further claimed that the old Indian fort had been destroyed by fire but still included remnants of flint instruments, arrowheads, and fragments of painted canvas.

Of these finds, the painted canvas fragments are deemed most important because, according to The Orange Peel story, the university's archeological experts have been quietly laboring for two years to reconstruct the canvas painting of an early Onondagan chief that the experts have dubbed "Big Chief Bill Orange." The painting by an early Jesuit priest was of the chief whose real name was "O-gee-ke-da Ho-schen-e-ga-da." Those Indian words translate into English as "Salty Warrior." For unspecified reasons that name morphs into "Saltine Warrior" which takes hold as the campus mascot.

As it turns out, the hoax was actually perpetrated in collusion with the university whose goal it was to fill a mascot void. The hoax was ultimately exposed in 1936 when a student research group took note of the fact that a Dr. Burgess Johnson, who was credited in the 1931 article, was actually not a doctor, but he was Director of Public Relations for Syracuse University.

At that point the conspirators came clean, acknowledging their shenanigans. Ironically however, in the five years that had passed between the hoax's inception and exposure, the false theory had settled into general acceptance having been referenced by various Syracuse newspapers and alumni newsletters. The bottom line was that despite the tomfoolery, the Saltine Warrior marched on and the university agreed upon "Orangemen" as the official nickname, and the hatchet-wielding Saltine Warrior as the logo.

We'll be back next week with the rest of the story and see how Syracuse University deals with the situation when it finds itself on the brink of a crisis of political correctness.

The Carosa Commentary

What A Whirlwind Week It Was

Adrenaline does amazing things. It can give you a sense of superhuman strength. It can push you to accomplish things you can only dream of. It can keep you awake and alert until the job is done.

How long can an adrenaline rush last?

That's a tricky question. The length depends on what triggers the initial rush. It might be 10-15 minutes. It might be an hour or two. It might be a day.

And what happens when you experience a series of adrenaline rushes?

OK, I'm going to stop right there. I'm not a doctor and an "Adrenaline Rush" clearly has medical implications I am less than qualified to comment on.

On the other hand, I am a writer. That allows me to use the concept of an adrenaline rush as a metaphor of sorts. It's that rush of excitement you feel when you're on the cusp of doing something you have really looked forward to doing. Nothing will get in the way between you and your destination. Your body does whatever it needs to do to make sure you arrive at the appointed time.

Such were the events of last week. It was a non-stop whirlwind of activity. And at quite an unusual time of year for such winds to whirl.

As I write this, I am reminded of something the digital archives curator told me as I donated a digitized version of our weekly college newsletter "This Week In Davenport" (a.k.a., "TWID"). He expressed his delight in receiving these "a-day-in-the-life" materials from the early 80s because the library was thin on student life from that period of time.

That memory, in turn, reminded me of the historical research I've done with old newspapers. In those days, local newspapers (comparable to the Sentinel today) would regularly report on the "day-in-the-life" activities of its readers.

It's sort of like what people post about their personal lives on social media today. Except, back then, given the delay in printing schedules, chances were you'd already be back home by the time news of your travels appeared in the paper. This is why thieves prefer today's real-time social media platforms to old-fashioned newspapers.

So, what is my "day-in-the-life" story from last week? Well, to be honest, it's a whole series of days, not just one. And they flashed by with the non-stop intensity of a whirling dervish.

It wasn't supposed to be like that. In fact, it began with a pleasant plan. You see, Karen Mireau scheduled an author's party for Thursday, October 19th for her new book The Cottage Hotel. Karen invited my Connecticut-based college roommate Tom Midney, a big fan of The Cottage, whom she quoted in the book.

"I'm coming," Tom told me last summer.

"It seemed simple. Three events in five days. For Tom. But five events in five days for me, including two on the same day at the same time."

Then the Bills schedule came out. They were playing the Giants on Sunday night, October 15th. Tom is a life-long Giants fan.

"Can you get me a ticket?" asked Tom. "I'll come early and we can go to the game."

He wasn't done. He wanted to go see a band in downtown Rochester on Monday, October 16th, but I told him I had a meeting that night. So, he searched whatever one searches on the internet to find an alternative for Tuesday night.

Much to his delight, he discovered the Greg Koch Marshall Trio was playing Tuesday, October 17th. Much to my delight, they were playing at Fanatics in Lima. So, he made arrangements and got a buddy and his friend to join us.

It seemed simple. Three events in five days. For Tom. But five events in five days for me, including two on the same day at the same time.

Honestly, I didn't think that sounded tough.

That's what I get for thinking.

It started Saturday night, October 14th, in the rain. It was the Sentinel's broadcast of the HF-L football game. Tom arrived early enough in the afternoon to help. He held the umbrella to keep me and the camera dry.

The next night it was the Bills game. We planned to leave early to get a chance to rest. We thought it would be a blowout.

That's what we get for thinking.

Tom got Monday to recover, but for me it was deadline day followed by that meeting I had at night. I promised Tom my Tuesday would be free so we could do whatever he wanted to do before going to Fanatics.

Well, it turns out Tom's buddy who'd be joining us at Fanatics was Jeremy Tuke, a trustee at the Rochester & Genesee Valley Railroad museum. He told Tom he'd be at the museum all day on Tuesday and we should visit.

So, we did.

Except Jeremy left early, so we missed him. But Otto and the boys were perfect hosts and showed us around. I got back just in time to give the paper the final proof.

Wednesday, Thursday, Friday starts my regular broadcast schedule, so there's that. Tom was kind enough to take the family to dinner Wednesday night.

Then came Thursday. After the noon-time broadcast, we got ready for the 3:00pm event at The Cottage. Betsy, Tom & I went there and had fun talking to all the people. Tim & Deb Smith were also in attendance. Karen was very grateful for our help. Hilary was her usual smiling self, happy to have so many people at the event.

Then I left it for that dinner/meeting. I got back to The Cottage at 9:30pm as the band was packing up. Tom was the life of the party. He was in his element, friends with everyone. The event he had been waiting for had finally come to pass. He had accomplished his mission.

That evening, a 48-hour cold bug caught up with him. I explained the whole thing about the adrenaline rush and how it keeps you going until you're done. That's when your body is most vulnerable. That's when you get sick.

As for me, my mission wouldn't be accomplished until later Friday, after a morning meeting and the afternoon broadcast. More precisely, my appointed rounds would not be completed until Betsy, Wally, and I arrived at my father-in-law's house in Jamestown.

We got there in time to go out to dinner. It was a good dinner. And then we went back to Betsy's father's house.

And that's when I got that 48-hour cold bug.

Counties Launch Operation Green Light Campaign to Support Veterans

As November approaches, the New York State Association of Counties (NYSAC) is encouraging counties around the state to illuminate county buildings from November 6th through the 12th to support veterans and to raise awareness of the local services counties provide to veterans through its Operation Green Light campaign.

The campaign, first launched in 2021 as a collaboration between the NYSAC, the NYS County Executives' Association, and the NYS County Veteran Service Officers' Association, has grown into a national effort led outside of New York by the National Association of Counties (NACo), which adopted the campaign in 2022, leading to the participation of more than 300 municipal governments last year.

This year, the campaign has gained recognition in the U.S. House of Representatives with House Resolution 750 introduced by Rep. Betty McCollum (D-Minn.) and Marc Molinaro (R-N.Y.). The resolution acknowledges Operation Green Light as an opportunity to support veterans and raise awareness about important county resources available to help veterans transition to civilian life.

"Operation Green Light is a wonderful way that counties can show our support and commitment to the brave men and women who have served our country and it's very encouraging to see support for the campaign grow across the nation and even in our nation's capital," said NYSAC President Daniel P. McCoy, a Master Sargent in the New York Army National Guard. McCoy served in the United States Army and was deployed to Iraq in 2005-2006. "Not only is it a symbol of support to our vets but it's also an opportunity to shine a light on the vital work of our local Veteran Service Offices that work every day to ensure veterans around the state receive the benefits they've earned and get connected with programs and services to address the unique needs of veterans," he added.

"We're incredibly proud to be launching Operation Green Light campaign for the third year in a row," said NYSAC Executive Director Stephen Acquario. "Operation Green Light gives government leaders, businesses and individuals a way to reach out and let members of the veteran community know what we're with them and that we appreciate all that they have done to protect our country and our way of life."

In addition to lighting county buildings, bridges, and other meaningful landmarks, counties are encouraging residents, businesses and other organizations to participate by simply changing one light bulb in their home to a green bulb. By shining a green light, we let our veterans know that they are seen, appreciated, and supported.

Visit www.nysac.org/operationgreenlight to learn more about the campaign and how to participate.

GCC History Club Announces Next Two Events in the Historical Horizons Lecture Series Lineup for the Fall 2023 Semester

The Genesee Community College History Club will present the third lecture in its Historical Horizons Lecture Series this fall.

On Wednesday, November 1, Derek Maxfield, Assoc. Professor of History at GCC will speak on "The Victorians and Spiritualism". Americans in the 19th century were increasingly drawn to the idea that it was possible to communicate with the dead beyond the grave. The Victorians, in particular, already romanticized death and sought to make the rituals surrounding it more attuned to their own values. They embraced the idea of a heavenly reunion in heaven and found solace in being able to communicate with lost loved ones through seances and other mediums. Many of the devices the Victorians created to deal with death stick with us today and have modern relevance.

The lecture series will close its fall lineup on Wednesday, December 6 with Dr. Aaron Sachs, Professor of History at Cornell University speaking on Stay Cool: Why Dark Comedy Matters in the Fight Against Climate Change. We've all seen the headlines: oceans rising, historic heat waves, mass extinctions, climate refugees. It feels overwhelming, like nothing can make a difference in combating this ongoing global catastrophe. How can we mobilize to save the world when we feel this depressed?

Stay Cool enjoins us to laugh our way forward. Human beings have used comedy to cope with difficult realities since the beginning of recorded time the more dismal the news, the darker the humor. Using this rich tradition of dark comedy to investigate climate change, Aaron Sachs makes the case that gallows humor, a mainstay of African Americans and Jews facing extraordinary oppression, can cultivate endurance, persistence and solidarity in the face of calamity.

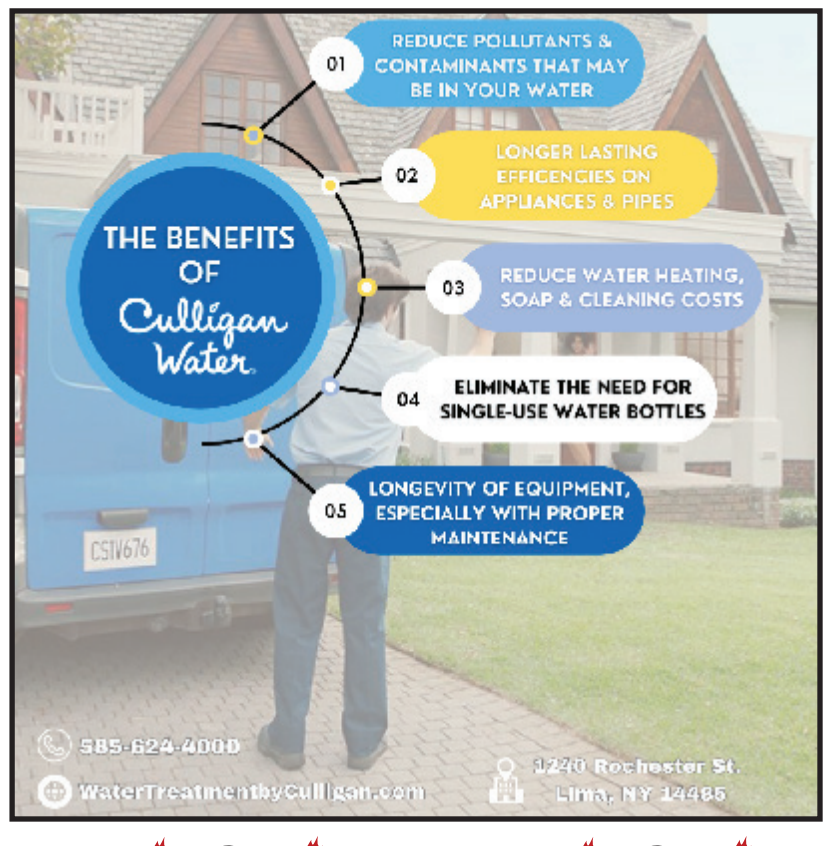

Environmentalism is probably the least funny social movement that's ever existed. Stay Cool seeks to change that. Will comedy save the world? Not by itself, no. But it can put people in a decent enough mood to get them started on a rescue mission.

All events begin at 7 p.m. and will be held in room T102 of the Conable Technology Building on the Batavia Campus. Events are FREE and open to the public.

For more information about the Historical Horizons Lecture Series, please contact Derek Maxfield at ddmaxfield@genesee.edu or visit www.gcchistoricalhorizons.com.

Moments In Our Shared History

FALLEN FLAG* #5

by Paul S. Worboys
psworboys@gmail.com

#5 New York Central "Peanut" - 1939/Present

After westbound "Peanut" trains clattered over the bridge at Honeoye Falls, then through the Main Street/Railroad Avenue intersection, the array of architecture presented the frequent traveler was hardly unique. Nor was it anything special for those on their first train into town.

In this segment of the Bird's Eye View, the "Peanut" was already forty years old, while the Lehigh Valley (54), shown across the top, was about to open shop in a railroad car parked at Monroe Street. The (54) part was only on paper, until completed to the shore of Hemlock Lake in 1895.

(Bird's Eye View, Burleigh Lithograph Co., Troy, NY 1892)

This 1892 view included a standard roster of structures… freight house, pump house, depot (8), coal yard office (15), and a variety of firms dealing in produce, lumber and farm implements. Cutler & Tring processed beans in its #11 complex; the multi-dimensional Dryer, Humphrey & Holdridge was #12; across the street (#13 cropped out of this scene) was the long-lived brother firm, M. & S. Pierce Lumber. That location was converted for another half-century by William Despard for his coal company, with #16 the early location of Frank Jobes' General Produce operation.

Despard himself, long-time village mayor and the final occupant of the mansion across from HF's fire hall, qualifies for two reasons as a "fallen flag." This pre-teen recalls his coal deliveries to nourish Dad's clunky furnace… reminiscent of the scene from the movie, "A Christmas Story." The last coal dealer around, Bill decided 1910 to 1960 was a good run in the coal business. So, the Despards sold their home to the village, moved to Rochester and, practically unbeknownst to the preservationists in town, their stately Victorian mansion was summarily turned into a pile of rubble and swept away.

"So, what about #14," you quip, "ain't that a b'ness?"

"For sure," the writer counters, "but one of many colors." Together with that big old barn, still standing on the property… activities included being a hostelry, livery, cooperage, bowling center, bicycle shop and inventor's workshop… including today's status (since 1941) as a four-unit apartment building.

For a good seven decades after a trackside "relief saloon" served the traveling public, #14 was the Railroad House, Ritzenthaler's, the Pan American, Mason's Hotel, and perhaps a couple of others. In its earliest days, when every smoke-filled mile required a respite between Canandaigua and Batavia, it also doubled as a stop to fill passengers' bellies and wash the soot from their eyes.

A number of residences, exuding "location, location, location," filled the non-industrial spaces and several justified the fact that "Norton Street" was not the hot new identity concocted in the 1960s… it was a reversion to the original name, honoring Zebulon Norton, who, with his mill, fathered the community 160 years earlier. Converting to a sexy railroad sobriquet in the 1850s, with the arrival of the C&NF RR was deemed antiquated by the village honchos of 1960, when rail service barely existed.

A few years before the "Railroad Avenue" designation was deemed antiquated and purged from our lives, the writer entered the picture. Roaming through the neighborhood on all manner of important kid business, we couldn't understand this hang-up about Norton Street…. "Who was this Norton guy… the wacky Ed Norton in Jackie Gleason's TV show???"

Undeterred, we still had plenty of railroad evidence left to play with and practically no one policing the area. Friends living on the street had yards to accommodate ballgames and sleep outs, but the ultimate fun was in a tall, decrepit corncrib where, after climbing to the bottom, I found a corncob pipe. The best I can recall is that nothing unhealthy came of it.

While the rails, disappearing toward Batavia in the distance, were gone, the Lehigh Valley (the neighbor outside my bedroom window) flared tracks from the Lehigh Street yard to the route to high adventure… north to Rochester Junction, south to Lima and Hemlock. However, the former Central yard tracks were still in service too, to Kingston Farm Machinery, Seelos Feed Mill, Caves Lumber and Beam Milling at the falls. We rarely witnessed a train, but there was the sheer expectation that we might.

The 'gang' the writer was part of used the territory by the season. Creating "Sherwood Forest" along a stretch of track where the LV connected with the former Peanut, was where us boys captured snakes and hid out from the girls (secretly hoping they'd find us). We'd jump off various storage buildings into drifted snow or, in the distance, make a thrilling plunge into the deep drifts under the Mama Trestle. (With a nod to structural engineers, Mama was a bridge, but we preferred "trestle," to match the nearby Baby and the Papa, which, having underneath supports, were both actual trestles.)

HF's Village Police force, primarily one stern cop, once considered among the village's better baseball players, was Howard "Buck" Shirley. Not as fearsome as the "railroad bulls" of legend, nonetheless, Buck was the opposite of Barney Fife. Oh, we had our run-ins with him a time or two, but none were recalled involving railroad property.

You may wonder about the "Peanut" depot, which was befitting of the nickname given the Central's erstwhile Canandaigua-Batavia Branch. Geographically, once the writer rolls this story through to Batavia, there was actually a "West Peanut," with depots at such places as Pembroke, Akron, Clarence and North Tonawanda. (Will a guest columnist appear to relate their side of the Peanut story?)

However, having already placed the photogenic 1885 piggyback wreck back in its rightful place in Batavia (10/12 Sentinel), the photo on page 5, duplicated in their 1952 Sesquicentennial book, needs further interpretation.

To start with, that scene is ours! The location is ours and all the people are ours, at least relative to workin' on the railroad. Pshaw, even the photographer was ours! (At least until he actually moved to Batavia… to capitalize on the handsome photograph he'd taken, perhaps?)

Here is the account in the Sentinel's News & Notes, November 15th, 2007…

Arty and Willie, two ghostly protagonists from the writer's HF Cemetery column days, have returned to haunt Mr. News & Notes. The three of us used to have great fun ribbing the new millennium crowd, but now the Relative to the Peanut yard, there was no luxury of an agent, the depot or the signal tower – gone by the writer's time. However, given Honeoye Falls' self-anointed "Railroad Security Trainees," mugging for the camera circa 1920, the neighborhood watch was once in full force.

Over the years, this photo has been woefully misidentified, especially as being the first train into Honeoye Falls. The writer thought it to be a view of Mary Wrenn in 1887, accepting her appointment as HF NYC ticket agent from yardmaster, Ed Hawkins. But no, the Honeoye Falls Times provided the answer in 1892.

(HF-Mendon Historical Society collection)

boys expect News to correct the village's historical record with a disclaimer.

The antique photograph shown here has appeared in various publications and it supposedly portrays the first train into Honeoye Falls. That would date it to January 1853, when the Canandaigua & Niagara Falls Railroad commenced operations. (By 1858, it was part of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad conglomerate… New York Central, for short.)

Clearly shown in front of steam locomotive #467 are two scamps… yup News' buddies from past yarns, Arty and Willie. They are mighty proud of their mischievous deed of sneaking into an official portrait, but folks they ain't that old… their parents probably weren't even born by 1853. Here's a closer look at the evidence.

It does not appear to be January, when the pre- "Peanut" C&NF opened - chilly maybe, but not the dead of winter. The little rail line was a mere ninety linear miles and needed just a few wood-burning locomotives, thus, why is it numbered 467, instead of #1, or 5, or 10? And, if it burned wood, as early steamers did, #467 would have had a distinctly more bulbous smokestack to prevent red-hot embers from spewing out (and burning down our covered bridge!). This one, as indicated by the trainman with the broad shovel, was a later vintage coal-burner and he's the fireman, whose job was to feed the boiler while the train was on the fly.

[Factoid: In the 1850's, four to five million cords of wood were devoured annually in American locomotives. When coal and oil became the fuel of choice, fine black soot replaced the dry white ash of wood. Shiny, multi-hued engines, with colorful names, polished brass and operated by nattily-dressed engineers, became obsolete - drab grey and coal black became the 'in' colors of railroading.]

Two of the great characters of the Railroad Age in Honeoye Falls, popular agents, E. H. Hawkins and Mary Wrenn, stand in front of the depot. In a sort of ceremonial pose, Ed is handing Mary a document. What was it?

Both were born in 1858, five years after the Peanut opened through HF, so that wasn't the occasion. Ed eventually opened a business in Canandaigua and became one of that town's most popular citizens. Honeoye Falls lost a good man. Until Mary's passing at 63 in 1921, she was thought to be the longest-tenured female railroad employee in the United States.

Let the record show that this picture was snapped by a professional photographer, Mark C. Kember, and posted in the Honeoye Falls Times of April 28th, 1892: "Kember photographed engine No. 467 and crew on Tuesday of last week. The employees of the station were also taken in the group. The picture is a fine one and can be seen at the gallery or the depot."

Thirty-nine years (1892 – 1853 = 39)... is a big difference in the realm of 'guesstimates.'

Before closing for this week, Fallen Flags leaves you with two more photos to ponder. Hopefully, one or both will strike a nerve, and, with a little coaxing, help bring that artifact shown to the Historical Society Museum for display. There's a great story behind both photos… ID and explanation next week.

HF-L girls tennis concludes season in team tournament title match

BY DONNA MACKENZIE

While the Honeoye Falls-Lima Girls Varsity Tennis team did not make its goal of returning to the New York State Public High School Athletic Association Team Tournament this season, the Lady Cougars have a season to be proud of.

HF-L had two doubles teams in Section V's state qualifier tournament on October 13 and 14. Elliana Davis and Mary Repass won 6-1, 6-1 in the round of 16 over a doubles tandem from Lyons High School but lost in the quarterfinals by 6-1, 6-3 to a duo from Pittsford Sutherland. Hazel Jokl and Ava Youngblut won their round of 16 match by 6-2, 6-1 over a doubles team from Webster Thomas and, although they won the first set 6-4, they ultimately lost their quarterfinal match to a Sutherland doubles team that won the second set 6-4 and the third set 6-0 to take the match.

"Hazel and Ava had an incredible match in the quarterfinals at the state qualifier," coach Gae Orsini said. "They legitimately played some of the best doubles I've seen high school girls play. Mary and Elliana also played very well."

HF-L received the #2 seed in the Section V Class B1 Tournament and defeated #7 Mynderse 4-1 in the quarterfinal round on October 5. Repass lost 7-6 (7-3), 6-1 in first singles. Youngblut won 6-1, 6-1 at second singles. Davis captured a 6-2, 6-1 victory over her third singles opponent. Maria Fanghanel and Jokl teamed for a 6-1, 6-2 win in first doubles. Sydney Emerson and Madelyn Etter swept their second doubles opponents by 6-0, 6-0.

"The match against Mynderse wasn't expected to be close, but by no means was it a breeze," Orsini said. "It served as a great warmup for our match the next day against Pal-Mac."

The Lady Cougars seized a 4-1 victory over #3 Palmyra-Macedon in the semifinals on October 6. Jokl grabbed a 6-1, 6-1 win at first singles. Youngblut defeated her second singles opponent by 6-3, 6-0. Davis won her first set 6-2 but lost 7-6 (10-8), 1-0 (10-7) in the second and third sets to lose the third singles match. Fanghanel and Repass won 6-4, 6-3 at first doubles. Emerson and Etter won 6-2, 6-0 in second doubles.

"Our doubles pairings grew in confidence and performed really well on both days," Orsini said.

The Lady Cougars fell 3-2 to #1 seed Harley-Allendale-Columbia in the Class B1 championship match on October 10. Repass lost 6-0, 6-1 to her first singles opponent. Youngblut won 6-0, 6-2 in second singles. Davis lost 6-2, 7-6 (7-2) at third singles. Fanghanel and Jokl won 6-4, 5-7, 6-3 over their first doubles opponents. Emerson and Etter lost 5-7, 6-3, 4-6 at second doubles.

"The match against HAC was extremely close," Orsini said. "The last two matches that were still being played under the lights at Geneva were second doubles and third singles. Both were winnable matches, but I guess the tennis gods were smiling more on HAC this year. We are already hungry for next year. I was proud of the girls this fall."

HF-L finished the season with a 10-6 record and won its Monroe County divisional title. Five seniors graduate.

Sydney Emerson was on varsity three seasons. Emerson went 1-1 in singles play and was 7-6 in doubles play this fall.

Maria Fanghanel competed on varsity three years. Fanghanel had an 11-3 record as she played all doubles matches this fall.

Zainab Khan spent two seasons on varsity. Khan played all doubles matches this fall and had a 3-3 record.

Mary Repass finished a three-year varsity career. Repass posted a 2-4 record in singles matches and a 10-4 record in doubles matches this year.

Amanda Wager played on varsity two seasons. Wager registered a 1-0 record in singles play and a 2-4 record in doubles this year.

LCS girls soccer falls in final two league games

BY DONNA MACKENZIE

The Lima Christian Girls Varsity Soccer team had a tough schedule the final week of the regular season, facing two teams that they had lost to the first time they played them by a combined 12-1 margin. The Lady Saints, however, cut that margin the second time around.

LCS dropped a 4-1 setback to C.G. Finney on October 10. Finney scored three times in the first half. Alyssa Marsh scored the Saints' only goal, off an assist by Abby Britton. Abby Dils made 22 saves in goal for the Lady Saints.

"We lost to them 6-1 the first time," Lima coach Andy Britton said. "The girls played really well."

The Lady Saints fell 5-2 to a combined Dundee/Bradford team in the final game of the regular season on October 13. Rebekah Lakra and Marsh each tallied one goal. Sophy Britton assisted on Lakra's goal. Dils scooped up 19 saves.

"The second time we played teams that we lost to the first time, we cut our deficits roughly in half," coach Britton said. "We had a tough stretch in the last five games. The last three games, we have gone 'old school' by changing from a diamond defense to a flat three defense and in the last three games, we scored five goals so the change helped our offense. The defensive change also caused our opponents to be called for offsides quite a bit."

LCS boys soccer takes final regular season opponent to two OT

BY DONNA MACKENZIE

The Lima Christian Boys Varsity Soccer team played very well in its last regular season game as the Saints took their opponent to double overtime.

LCS bowed 2-1 in double overtime to a combined Rochester Prep/Vertus Charter School/Rochester Academy Charter School team on October 10. The squads battled through a scoreless first half although each one had some scoring opportunities that they were unable to capitalize on. Owen Teitsworth put Lima Christian on the scoreboard with a goal off an assist from David Dils in the second half. Rochester Prep scored late in the second half so the game went into the first overtime. Both teams had a few chances for a goal, but could not knock the ball into the net. Rochester Prep finally notched the game-winner in the second overtime. Nathan Herring handled 14 saves in goal for the Saints.

"It was a back-and-forth game the entire way," Lima Christian coach Josh Sonoga said. "It was Rochester Prep's senior night and the ball bounced their way at the end. The kids played very well and I was very proud of their effort."

HF-L boys soccer overwhelms Pal-Mac in sectional quarterfinal

BY DONNA MACKENZIE

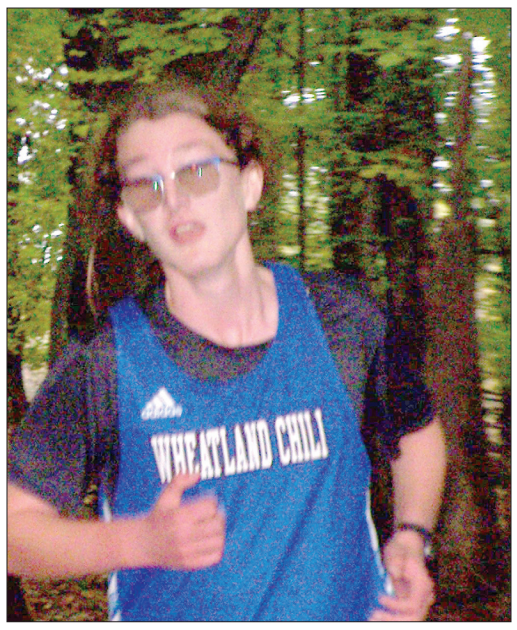

The Honeoye Falls-Lima Boys Varsity Soccer team advanced to the semifinals of the Section V Tournament with four different players scoring goals in its quarterfinal matchup.

HF-L, seeded third, routed #6 Palmyra-Macedon 5-1 in the Section V Class A Tournament quarterfinal on October 20. Owen Smith headed in the ball off a corner kick from Brandon Pritchard for the squad's first goal. Eli Cleveland tallied the second goal, sending the ball into the far corner of the net after taking a pass from Ezra Gathercole who was on the left side of the field. That made the score 2-0 right before halftime. Brandon Pritchard made the score 3-0 just 30 seconds into the second half. Gathercole added the fourth goal, assisted by Brandon Pritchard. Brandon Pritchard closed the scoring, assisted by Chase Pritchard, for a 5-0 advantage. Sawyer Ferraro handled two saves.

"It was close at the start," coach Mike Merrill said. "The big factor was scoring a goal right before the first half ended and then Brandon's goal 30 seconds into the second half. The third goal really deflated any momentum that Pal-Mac might have had coming out of halftime. We were missing one of our top scorers as Zachary Zollo was injured in a practice, but other guys stepped up."

HF-L played #2 Pittsford Sutherland in the semifinals on October 24. If the Cougars won, they would play in the Section V Class A final on October 27.

W-C runners take good times into postseason

BY DONNA MACKENZIE

While they did not pick up any victories at their last Genesee-Livingston League meet of the season last week, the Wheatland-Chili Varsity Cross Country team members did turn in some very solid times as they turn their attention to the league championship and sectional championship.

W-C's boys fell 19-37 to Alexander, 15-45 to Batavia Notre Dame, 15-50 to Byron-Bergen and 15-49 to Kendall on October 17. River Brandes clocked 21 minutes, 29 seconds for 24th over the course at Oatka Creek Park. Kyle Otto finished 30th at 22:52, just ahead of Dillon Nelson who was 31st at 22:55. Colden Young followed behind Nelson to take 32nd at 22:59. Anton Teeter was 45th (26:45).

The Lady Wildcats dropped meets to Alexander by 15-incomplete and to Byron-Bergen 15-incomplete while Batavia Notre Dame and Kendall also fielded incomplete girls teams just like Wheatland. Katya Miller claimed 12th at 26:05. Cora Baird was 17th (32:30).

"I thought the kids ran very well," coach Brian Glass said. "I was a bit surprised because there was a change to the course at the last minute because of a tree down on part of the course that we normally use so we had to change the course route a bit. The change meant that the kids had to tackle the hill that we call 'Big Bertha' twice. The kids are right about where we wanted them to be at this stage of the season and I believe this race was a pretty good indicator of what the kids could run at the league championship."

W-C competes at the Genesee-Livingston League Championship on October 28.

W-C girls soccer advances to sectional semifinals

BY DONNA MACKENZIE

Neither game was a walk in the park, but the Wheatland-Chili Girls Varsity Soccer team captured wins in its first two games of the Section V tournament to meet one of its goals and reach the semifinal round of the tournament. Now, the Lady Wildcats hope that one of their seniors who has missed the past few games with an injury will be able to join them and help them take the next step and make it to the championship game.

W-C, seeded seventh, defeated #10 Alfred-Almond 3-1 in the first round of the Section V Class C2 Tournament on October 17. Emily Parker scored the first goal for the Lady Wildcats about four minutes into the game after she got some separation from her defender and received a through pass from Jaeda Mekker. About nine minutes later, Sienna Mekker drilled a direct kick past the goalie to put the Wildcats up 2-0. Vanessa Guerrero concluded the scoring with an assist from Sienna Mekker, taking a through pass from Mekker about eight minutes into the second half. W-C goalie Marena DeBruyne needed to make just one save.

"I thought it was a close game. Alfred worked very hard," W-C coach Jen Quinn said. "Sienna's goal on her direct kick was a beauty. We had a few shots that did not go in. Our defense played very well."

The Lady Wildcats played a nail-biter with #2 seed Naples in the quarterfinal round on October 20, prevailing for a 1-0 victory. The game was scoreless through the first half as the game was back-and-forth the entire way. While Naples had the more dangerous shots in the first half, W-C had the better of play and more dangerous shots in the second half. Neither one was able to score until Emily Parker tallied the game-winner off a pass from Jaeda Mekker with about seven minutes remaining in the game. DeBruyne handled five saves in goal.

"Most of Marena's saves were in the first half, including two critical saves where she had to fully extend to dive to save one shot and extend and leap up for another save," Quinn said. "There were not a lot of shots by either squad as both team's defenses played very well. Their defense was very solid, led by their center defender/sweeper who was fast. After having the ball out wide, we would attempt to put the ball into the slot but she was intercepting the ball and able to clear the ball well with either her right foot or her left foot. Because she was fast, she was also able to mark Lillian Swavely. In the second half, we moved Emily to forward and moved Alison Farrell back to midfield. We then worked to get Emily open in a seam and she finally got hold of a pass from Jaeda and turned to fire a low shot to the far post. Their goalie got a piece of the ball, but the shot was so hard that it went past her into the net. We've been working on that play a lot and it paid off."

W-C faced #3 Keshequa in the semifinals on October 24 and, if the Wildcats won, they play in the championship game on October 27.

W-C boys soccer finishes season in sectional tournament

BY DONNA MACKENZIE

The Wheatland-Chili Boys Varsity Soccer team fought hard but the Wildcats could not overtake their opponent in the first round of the Section V Tournament last week.

W-C, seeded ninth, lost 2-1 to #8 seed Bolivar-Richburg in the first round of the Section V Class C2 Tournament on October 18. Bolivar struck first, taking a 1-0 lead just two minutes into the game. Bolivar-Richburg netted its second goal with about 15 minutes left in the first half to hold a 2-0 halftime advantage. While the Wildcats roared out of halftime and controlled play much of the second half, they were unable to score until Camdyn Cremaldi scored off an assist by Ethan Hallock with about 15 minutes remaining in the contest. W-C had some other scoring opportunities in the second half, but could not cash in on any of them. Wildcat goalie Austin Allen scooped up nine saves.

"We came out very flat and could not match the intensity and aggression of Bolivar in the first half," Wheatland-Chili coach Garhett Varin stated. "We came out of halftime and we dominated, putting on a clinic in the midfield but Bolivar-Richburg was ready to defend. After Camdyn scored, we came close on a number of other shots but it was too little, too late. I was proud of the squad this season. We had some adversity with injuries during the season but the kids kept working hard."

Wheatland-Chili finished the season with a 5-9-1 record. Nine seniors graduate.

Benjamin Allen was on the varsity for three seasons. Allen was a defender and helped in the team's four shutout victories but did not have a goal or assist.

Owen Alquist spent three seasons on the varsity. Alquist was a defender and did not have a goal or assist but aided in the team's four shutout wins.

Camdyn Cremaldi finished three years on the varsity. A co-captain, Cremaldi started out as a starting forward but moved to defense when injuries struck. He recorded five goals (second-most on the team) and did not have an assist.

Gianluca D'angi played on varsity three seasons. D'angi was a defender and notched one goal and one assist while also helping in the four shutout wins.

Jakob DeSalvo ended three seasons on varsity. DeSalvo was a starter on defense, but an injury forced him to miss several games and he did not have a goal or assist.

Ethan Hallock competed on varsity for three years. Hallock was a co-captain and a starter on defense. He tallied four goals, which was third-highest on the team, and added two assists while playing a key role in the four shutout wins.

Humza Muhammad spent two seasons on varsity. Muhammad was a defender, helping the team in four shutout wins, but did not have a goal or assist.

James Nolan finished a terrific three-year varsity career. Nolan was a co-captain and midfielder on the squad. He registered eight goals, which was the most on the team this season, and added five assists, which also led the Wildcats this year.

Louden Thrush played on varsity three years. Thrush was a forward and chipped in one goal and one assist for Wheatland this season.

HF-L football routs Wayne

BY DONNA MACKENZIE

While the Buffalo Bills may have had trouble scoring early against New England last Sunday, that was not the case for the Honeoye Falls-Lima Varsity Football team in its game against Wayne on October 20. The Cougars put up 14 points in the first quarter and another 16 in the second quarter as they cruised to a 43-7 victory.

HF-L forced Wayne to go three-and-out on its first possession. After returning the punt to its own 45, HF-L needed just six plays for its first score. Conor Finn gained five yards. Quarterback Matt Meacham connected with Keaton Yates on the left side for a 14-yard pass. Landon Hammond gained 13 yards. Meacham found his favorite receiver in senior Andrew Wanzenried for another 15 yards on the right side. Ben Cook then took the ball into the end zone from six yards out for the touchdown. Avery Rennoldson's kick was good and the Cougars were up 7-0 with 8:06 to play in the first quarter. HF-L's defense forced another three-and-out series by Wayne, but this time the defense did the scoring as Finn roared in on the punter to block the punt which Cooper Levine scooped up and scampered 25 yards for a touchdown. Rennoldson connected on her second extra-point kick as well and the Cougars bumped their lead to 14-0 with 6:21 left in the first quarter. The Cougar defense yielded some yardage and a first down to Wayne on its third drive, but Wayne once again wound up punting the ball away. Unfortunately, HF-L could not take advantage this time as a Meacham pass was picked off. The Eagles were unable to generate much offense and turned the ball over on downs to HF-L. This time, the Cougars were able to score as Meacham kept the ball himself, went through a hole created by the middle of his offensive line and then cut to his left for a 49 yard touchdown run. Rennoldson's extra-point kick gave HF-L a 21-0 lead with 8:56 left in the second quarter. After another three-and-out by Wayne, the Finn and Levine duo created another touchdown with Finn blocking the punt and Levine returning it 22 yards for his second touchdown of the game. The extra-point kick was no good, but the Cougars still had a 27-0 advantage with 7:14 left in the second quarter. Wayne finally put together a good drive, using 10 plays, that was capped by a two-yard touchdown run. The Eagles converted the extra-point kick to slice the deficit to 27-7 with 2:25 left in the second quarter. That, however, was just enough time for the Cougars to put some more points on the scoreboard. With a drive start at their own 48, the Cougars ran off 11 plays with the biggest being a 14-yard pass from Meacham to Wanzenried. With the clock running down, Cougar coach John Russ elected to go for a field goal and Meacham's kick split the uprights from 30 yards out as time expired to give the Cougars a 30-7 halftime advantage.

"Our defense and special teams unit played their best game of the year," Russ said. "Getting those blocked punts and returning them for touchdowns was huge because it allows the offense to breathe easier knowing that they don't have to score each time we have the ball."

The Cougars fumbled on their second play from scrimmage after receiving the second half kickoff, but the defense held Wayne on downs after eight plays. The Cougar offense got points on the resulting possession when Meacham's field goal was good from 29 yards out for a 33-7 lead with 1:04 left in the third quarter. That field goal capped a drive of 11 plays that ate up much of the clock in the period. The Eagles knocked on the door for a score on their next possession, reaching the HF-L 2 but Wayne fumbled the ball and Levine recovered the fumble. Meacham's pass was intercepted, but the Cougar defense got the ball right back when Yates picked off an errant Wayne pass. That turnover was cashed into points by HF-L after seven plays when Meacham kicked his third field goal of the game, this time from 37 yards. That boosted the score to 36-7 with 6:14 remaining in the game. After the HF-L defense stymied Wayne one more time, the Cougars got their final touchdown. With Nate Meacham at quarterback, the Cougars needed just three plays to get their final touchdown with Nate Meacham throwing a 32 yard pass to Jack Farabell for the score. Rennoldson's extra-point kick was good and the Cougars led 43-7 with 3:07 left in the game.

Matt Meacham completed 8-of-17 passes for 81 yards. Nate Meacham completed 1-of-2 passes for 32 yards. Cook led the rushing attack with 93 yards on 13 carries. Harrison Houle added 49 yards on four carries. Matt Meacham rushed three times for 47 yards, Hammond twice for 22 yards and Finn three times for 7 yards. Wanzenried made five catches for 51 yards. Farabell had one reception for 32 yards, Yates one catch for 14 yards, Hammond one catch for 11 yards and Chase Perryman one catch for five yards. The Cougar defense had quite a day with Finn blocking two punts, Levine recovering one fumble and recovering the two blocked punts, returning them both for touchdowns, and Yates intercepting a pass.

"Our offensive line did a great job," Russ said. "Brody Burke injured an ankle but rehabbed well and was able to play in the game. As a unit, they just keep getting better each week, opening holes for our rushing game and protecting Matt. We are also putting in some quarterback runs to give defenses something new to think about."

HF-L is the #2 seed in the Section V Class B Tournament and hosts #7 Dansville/Wayland-Cohocton on October 27 at 7 p.m.

"I am happy with that seed," Russ stated. "The win over Batavia was what got us that seed and we have told the kids that we have gotten better since the season began."

Armes paced the team in serving with 10 aces along with 28 digs and one assist. Matilda Lyle added two aces with nine digs and one kill. Gloor served one ace, set for 16 assists and had four digs and one kill. Trybuskiewicz compiled five kills and 12 digs. Gabrielsen tallied five kills and two digs. Harvey chipped in two kills, one block and one dig. Camp collected two kills and nine digs, Ford two kills and one dig, Healy one kill, 10 digs and one assist, Annabelle Lyle two digs and Schrader two kills and two digs.

"We definitely finished on the upswing with the win over Arcadia," coach Rene Monks said. "We do have our work cut out for us in sectionals; we just need to focus and work hard."

HF-L is the #4 seed in the Section V Class A Tournament and hosts #5 East on October 28.

Students With Learning Differences

BY BRENDA PIAZZA
Your College Coach

What is the correct term?

Learning differences and disabilities (LD) are often used interchangeably. LDs don't affect intelligence but may impact how the brain processes information. With proper support, children with LDs can still learn and succeed.

The students I have coached with learning differences share many of the same traits:

An ability to articulate their LD.
Patience with themselves (a trait developed over time).
A commitment to thrive academically.

What are the best colleges for students with learning differences?

Most colleges have a disability services office. The term "Office of Accessibility" is quite common today. Colleges are required to provide reasonable accommodations for students who disclose a disability. But, not all colleges offer the same level of support. What exactly does "reasonable" mean, and is it sufficient for your student?

What colleges offer excellent support? While plenty of resources on the Internet will provide you with a list of colleges offering excellent support services, be sure to learn firsthand what accommodations are offered. Some may also provide support services for an additional fee.

Common Accommodations (examples)

Extended exam time
Calculator or laptop
Take exams in a room with reduced distractions
Assistance of a reader, scribe, or word processor for exams
Option for an oral exam
Allow the student to tape-record lectures
Peer note takers
Housing/dorms accommodations
Classroom seating
ASL interpreters

During your college search, meet with or contact a disability services office (or office of accessibility) to learn about their accommodations and support. Keep in mind that the IEP ends at high school graduation.

Should I write about my learning difference in my main college essay? Students often ask me this question. If a student has overcome obstacles or learned something invaluable about themself, then yes. Alternatively, they can write about their LD and tell a story of success in the Common Application Additional Information Section.

Writing tips for your personal essay:

1) Engage the reader!
2) Let your personality shine!
3) Relevant details will make your essay stand out!
4) Be positive! Soften those negative words! You don't want to be portrayed as a "victim."
5) Be concise! Hold your reader's attention by removing extra words I call "fluff."

Final Comments:

Do your research! There are excellent online resources to help you get started. Your high school counselor is also an excellent resource for guidance.

Students with learning differences can go to college and be successful!

Town & Village Update

Mayor, Supervisor Weekly Update As Of Friday, October 20th
Canawaugus Park and Lima Village Courtesy Leaf Pick-Up

Village of Honeoye Falls

Rick Milne, Mayor:

"It's nice to see you guys again today. I'm sorry I'm on the road right now, but that's going to be the way it is for the next few weeks. I'm happy to say that over the next 3 to 4 weeks probably, our Village Board of Trustees will be participating in these calls, a different Trustee each week, who will be coming on board to talk specifically about the areas that they are either focused on as a liaison. As an example, Will Wagner is our liaison to the business community and Will is setting up a meeting in early November that we're going to ask all of our businesses to come in, so we can talk a little bit about our businesses working together, a Chamber type organization really taking off again, those types of things and really find out what their needs are. Dan Harris has been very involved with the Honeoye Falls Mendon Ambulance, and he'll really focus on that. Jackie Main has been focused on the Fire Department and then Virginia Floss will be talking about the Historical Society. So, everyone has their little area that they follow, and we'll give some really nice updates on that. So, I'm looking forward to their involvement. And that also helps me, as I'll be traveling quite a bit over the next few weeks. And these calls will be difficult for me to get on, so I appreciate their involvement."

"As Mike Falk has already brought up, you know, we are getting into campaign season, and I only bring that up really because of the County, from the standpoint that there's always a lot going on, and business continues to move forward. But as everyone is seeing the signs all around our communities now, that's a big focus for a lot of the legislators and the legislature overall is to go through this process, and November 7th, as Mike has said. The early voting is very critical really to all."

"So, from the Village standpoint things continue to go well. We look at November 14th as an important date for us. We're going to be setting up a little media event with Assemblywoman Lunsford, as she will be bringing us the big check. You know that media event where the check is about 8 feet long, or whatever but she'll be presenting us the check. That is going to pay for the new ambulance that we have coming in this coming month, the street sweeper that has already been delivered, and then the funding for the sidewalk project in front of the Post Office to really bring that up to a safe walking area."

"The other thing I wanted to bring up, we've talked about it a couple of times over the last couple of weeks, but we do have the report back from the engineering company that we contracted with that looked at the Hamilton Dam, also known as 'The Falls' in Honeoye Falls. We were happy to see that there is no action that the Village has to take right now. What we really need to look at is dive into unintended maybe, but dive into this project a little bit more to see what's going to be best. And we're going to work with the DEC on this as well, because the options will be more along the lines of : Do we recap the falls entirely? Do we just fix the area where some of the cap over the falls, which creates the dam, is broken off? Or do we remove the cap entirely? And I think the DEC has had some thoughts on removing it entirely, because that would help with flood mitigation back upstream. So, we have a lot of things to look at with that. It's going to be a very interesting project to review. And that's going to be a focus for the Village moving forward. Just so we have some good ideas for the process moving forward. So that's about it for right now. I appreciate the opportunity. It's always great to see everyone."

Town of Mendon

John Moffitt, Supervisor:

"A reminder to everyone there is a Veterans Day Ceremony at the four corners in Honeoye Falls at 11:00 am on Saturday, November 11. The ceremony only lasts a few minutes, our Legion Post 664 presides over the ceremony. Veterans Day known at the time as the end of the Great War WWl, when the treaty of Versailles was signed. Veterans Day is a celebration to honor America's veterans for their patriotism, love of country, and willingness to serve and sacrifice for the common good for the United States of America. After the ceremony the Town of Mendon hosts a lunch for all veterans at the Mendon Community Center, 167 North Main St. Honeoye Falls. All veterans and their families are encouraged to attend. There is no proof of service to our Country or residence requirement for lunch."

Village of Scottsville

Maggie Ridge, Mayor:

"It's been a busy and productive summer, highlighted by Concerts at the Gazebo, and the return of Summerfest. To cap off the season, we hosted a dedication ceremony to celebrate some major improvements to Canawaugus Park on Thursday October 19th."

"This little piece of land on the south side of Oatka Creek has served the Village in many capacities for years. At different times it served as an access point for the canal, the town dump, and the village pump station. Its proximity to Oatka Creek makes it a great place for fishing and kayaking. It also serves as a major trail head for New York State's longest state park - the Genesee Valley Greenway State Park. The 'Greenway' is a 90-mile, multi-use trail (hiking, biking, snowmobiling, birding, cross country skiing, horseback riding, etc.) that passes through multiple towns from Scottsville to Hinsdale, NY and is one of Scottsville's most significant assets. Wheatland has been an active participant as a Genesee Valley Trail Town, which highlights our unique location as the northern gateway to the Genesee Valley."

"Thanks to the vision and dedication of local citizens who- against all odds- were able to corral and harness a diverse variety of resources, including grant funding."

"To emphasize the amount of coordination needed for this project, the following is a list of groups and individuals who had a hand in this: Genesee Valley Trail Town Initiatives, Friends of the Genesee Valley Greenway, Parks and Trails NY, the Town of Wheatland, the Village of Scottsville's DPW, The Ralph C Wilson Foundation, The Genesee Country Museum, GWA Chamber of Commerce, and Wheatland Historical Association. Individual contributions towards completion of the kiosk include Bob and Alden Hatch, Mike Souers, Tim Davis, and Nickolas Schoenthal."

"As a result of these efforts, we (collectively) were awarded three separate grants (two from PTNY, and one from Tree City, USA) which helped the town and the village revive the park and give it some long overdue attention. These improvements include an informational kiosk, bike rack/bike repair station, a split rail fence, a perennial garden, and enhanced ADA access to the trail and the park."

"Canawaugus Park now has found its identity and we're very proud of what we've been able to accomplish. We're hoping that the funding continues—future plans include additional parking, and some thoughtful signage, so more people can access this wonderful asset."

Town of Lima

Mike Falk, Supervisor:

"Hi, thanks for having us again. It is that time of year again for Operation Green Light. Operation Green Light is a nationwide phenomenon that started right here in Livingston County to honor veterans. Put a green light out in front of your business, from your house now through Veterans Day, and it helps to let our vets know that they are cared for and appreciated."

"Bedroom Communities: the definition, of course, is a small community that has no major industries, and that is lived in by people who go to another town or city to work. Here in Lima the planning has for decades tried to move Lima more in that direction. It did not work out. We're a manufacturing center for pipeline parts for the natural gas industry, ID cards for security in hotels worldwide, custom playgrounds that are installed all over the continent, precast concrete wall systems and precast concrete products. We have a growing number of people who also work from home with no commute at all. And of course, don't forget the farming industry, which is sort of in the middle of, working from home, short commutes, but everything's sort of right there. The folks who work in these businesses, they all need places to live, places to shop and places to spend some leisure time. We have that sector growing in Lima right now. We are the fastest growing downtown in Livingston County. And yes, we need to replan, and the Town Board and the Village Board will have to be talking about that over the next year to see about a replanning effort. Lima will continue to grow. We must embrace it and not stand in the way. Vote carefully for your Town Board candidates. This November it is measured progress versus a return to tumbleweeds and empty storefronts. Your vote counts. And that's all I've got."

About This Feature:

Each Friday, the SENTINEL invites the mayors and supervisors from the towns and villages it covers to participate in a video call that airs every Sunday at 1pm on our Facebook page and YouTube channel. The edited transcript of that call appears on this page. We don't require participation, as many of these elected officials have full-time jobs outside their political office. We do ask them, if they would like to, to email us an update so we can include it on this page. Here is the complete list of invited municipalities:

Towns: Avon, East Bloomfield, Henrietta, Lima, Mendon, Pittsford, Rush, West Bloomfield, Wheatland

Villages: Avon, Bloomfield, Honeoye Falls, Lima, Pittsford, Scottsville

Village of Lima

John Skiptunas, Mayor:

"The Village crew will be conducting courtesy leaf pick up until the first snow. Please DO NOT pile leaves in the street as rain can push them to gutter blocking storm drains and causing possible stoppages in our stormwater systems."

"Please prepare alternative parking for your vehicles on all streets as the snowy season is around the corner. Plows cannot keep our streets clear with vehicles parked on curbs. We appreciate your cooperation."

"The Lima Republicans spaghetti dinner will be held at the Lima County Club on October 28th from 4-7pm. Advance tickets are available for $20 each adult meal, children 6-12yrs at $10 each. And yes, I will be making the sauce from scratch again with my secret recipe! Contact your Republican committee member or myself for tickets. You may also pay at the door!"

"The Lima Rotary Seniors Thanksgiving dinner will be held on November 11th from 4-6pm at the Crossroads Church Gym. Tickets are $15 @ the door."

"Lima's annual Tree Lighting and Parade will happen on November 25th beginning at 6pm. Anyone interested in participating in the parade can contact me directly or any member of the Lima Rotary. Cookies and hot chocolate will be served while the HF-L choir sings carols for all to enjoy. Santa will arrive as he leads the parade to greet all the good little boys and girls! Last chance raffle tickets supporting Lima Rotary projects will be sold right up to the drawing done by Santa himself! First prize is $750 just in time for Christmas! Tickets are $5 each or 5 for $20. Several of our businesses will be open late to welcome you after or before the event. We encourage everyone to support our small business owners."

THE BABE'S CALLED SHOT & CANCER COMES CALLING

BY DEB AND TIM SMITH

THE CALLED SHOT ~ This week we will conclude our series with perhaps the greatest Babe Ruth story of them all. The New York Yankees would be facing the Chicago Cubs in the 1932 World Series which included one of the most famous moments in baseball history. It was a moment that would be immortalized in the phrase "Babe Ruth's Called Shot." Certainly part of what contributes to the intrigue of the event is the uncertainty surrounding what really happened. Here's what went down, both the parts that are known to be true and the parts that are subject to conjecture.

With Charlie Root on the mound for the Cubs, Ruth comes to bat with the score tied 4-4 in the fifth inning of game three. Ruth takes the first pitch for a strike amidst a noisy backdrop of Cub players heckling him and the fans hurling insults. Existing film footage confirms that at this point the Babe raises his right hand. Whether he's pointing toward the pitcher, center field, or just randomly raising his hand will forever be fodder for potential debate.

Getting back to the facts, Root's next two pitches are balls and then Ruth takes the fourth pitch for strike two. He then continues to be taunted by the Cubs' dugout and fans, the Bambino bombastically returning every bit of their bluster. Chicago collectively responds with a scathingly scourging skewer of the Sultan of Swat. On top of everything else, the Babe had some great nicknames.

THAR SHE BLOWS ~ With the roar of the crowd and the drama of the diamond both reaching a crescendo, Root delivers the next pitch. Ruth drives the ball about 450 feet toward the flag pole at the back of the center field bleachers. Babe Ruth was a notorious storyteller, so that must be factored into the equation, but in post-game interviews he is adamant about the fact that he was gesturing toward center field indicating where the baseball was about to land. The Babe had called his shot, as if in a game of pool, and he had delivered.

There's a great film reel of this that loops non-stop at the Hall of Fame and you can also find it on YouTube. Check it out and make your own decision. For the record, those of us sitting in the dugout here at Smitty City, believe in the Babe.

The Cubs' dugout's a human disgrace
My composure they tried to debase
Holding on to my temper
I pointed to center
And then put those damn Cubs in their place

CAREER FADEOUT ~ In 1933 Babe Ruth's performance level began to decline and 1934 would be Ruth's last season with the Yankees. By this time, years of living high and hard were starting to catch up with him. His physical condition had deteriorated to the point that his fielding and running had become liabilities. He accepted a pay cut to $35,000 but he was still the highest paid player in the major leagues. He could still handle a bat and recorded a .288 batting average with 22 home runs but based upon his previous years these numbers were merely mortal.

Speaking of numbers, let's pause to reflect upon those salary figures. The fact that at $35,000 Ruth was baseball's highest paid player truly serves to put his earlier salaries into perspective. In 1930 he had signed an $80,000-a-year contract. Extrapolating those numbers, during the prime of his career Babe Ruth was being paid well over twice as much as any other player in baseball.

But all good things come to an end. For Babe Ruth the grand finale would occur in 1935 and, truth be told, it wasn't all that grand. In a quirky circle-of-life phenomenon, Ruth would finish his major league career in the same city he started it, namely Boston. But not with the Red Sox, it was the National League Boston Braves for whom Ruth would play his final half season.

The Braves weren't very good and the reason they were willing to sign Ruth was that even though his skills had sadly deteriorated he was still a draw at the gate. People would still pay to see the Babe even though he was only a shell of his former self. He did provide the Boston fans with a few flashes of his former brilliance. He homered on Opening Day and actually hit three home runs in one of his last games.

On the whole, however, he was suffering through a dismal season. That being said, he had promised the owner that he would play through Memorial Day and he stuck to his word. He retired after that, finishing his abbreviated season with a .181 average and 6 home runs.

POST-RETIREMENT ~ On July 4, 1939, Ruth spoke on Lou Gehrig Appreciation Day at Yankee Stadium, as members of the 1927 Yankees and a sellout crowd turned out to honor the ailing first baseman. This was the day that a dying Gehrig uttered his famous line, "Today, I consider myself the luckiest man on the face of the Earth." Gehrig had been forced into premature retirement by amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (ALS), the disease which would kill him just two years later and come to bear his name.

The next week, Ruth went to Cooperstown, New York, for the formal opening of the Baseball Hall of Fame. Three years earlier, he had become one of the original five players elected to the hall. For the record, the other four were Ty Cobb, Walter Johnson, Christy Mathewson and Honus Wagner.

CANCER COMES CALLING ~ During the WW II years, doctors had cautioned Ruth to take better care of his health, and he grudgingly followed their advice, limiting his drinking and curtailing his travel and activities. In the fall of 1946, Ruth began experiencing severe pain over his left eye and had difficulty swallowing. In November he entered French Hospital in New York for tests, which revealed that he had an inoperable malignant tumor in his neck at the base of his skull.

His celebrity did give him access to some experimental treatments, and he was one of the first cancer patients to receive both drugs and radiation treatment simultaneously. Having lost 80 pounds, he was discharged from the hospital in February and went to Florida to recuperate. While initially showing signs of improvement, the positive news proved to be short-lived.

He returned to New York and Yankee Stadium after the season started. Commissioner Happy Chandler proclaimed April 27, 1947, "Babe Ruth Day" around the major leagues, with the most significant observance to be held at Yankee Stadium. A number of teammates and others spoke, paying tribute to Ruth who briefly addressed the crowd of almost 60,000. By then, his voice had been reduced to a raspy whisper.

On June 5, 1948, a gaunt Babe Ruth visited Yale University to donate a movie manuscript of The Babe Ruth Story to its library. There was one rather cool historic irony of this visit. A meeting had been arranged between Ruth and the captain of the Yale baseball team who just happened to be future president George H. W. Bush.

On June 13, Ruth visited Yankee Stadium for the final time in his life, appearing at the 25th-anniversary celebration of "The House that Ruth Built." Pale and drawn, he struggled to walk and used a bat as a cane. Ironically appropriate. An iconic Pulitzer Prize winning photograph was shot by Nat Fein on this day. Taken from behind, it featured the Babe near home plate, baseball bat/cane in his right hand, staring out toward "Ruthville," the bleachers behind his old position in right field.

BOTTOM OF THE 9th ~ In July of 1948 Babe Ruth entered Memorial Hospital in New York where he would die. He was never actually told that he had cancer as it was thought his spirits would remain higher if he didn't know. But by the end he had surmised it.

He left the hospital only a few times, one of which was for a final visit to Baltimore, the city in which he had grown up. Ruth's final foray outside hospital walls occurred on July 26, 1948 when he was taken to see the premiere of the film The Babe Ruth Story. Can't help but comment upon the irony of this. The movie version of this story was beginning almost simultaneously with the ending of the real-life version.

Thousands of Babe Ruth admirers, including many children, stood vigil outside the hospital during his final days. Babe Ruth died in his sleep on August 16, 1948, at 8:01 pm at the age of 53. Over the next two days 77,000 people filed past his open casket in the rotunda of Yankee Stadium, the House That Ruth Built.
